Community Partners United Kicks off its Sixth Season of Goodwill

By Richard Johnson

Halloween may have been canceled in the Castro, but it was alive and thriving in the Hayes Valley/Western Addition neighborhood. Halloween events held throughout the neighborhood helped to kick off our Sixth Annual Fostering a Safe and Caring Holiday Season 2007. This marks the third year we opened our neighborhood parks and community centers to community members who enjoyed face painting, story telling, free candy, played games, heard music, made s'mores under the stars and – new this year – was the addition of two haunted houses open to the public.

The next scheduled event for the 2007 season is the Giving Voice to the Season Thanksgiving Dinner and Talent Show. We will partner with the Western Addition Beacon Center and hold our event at John Muir Elementary, 380 Webster Street, on Saturday November 17th from noon to 3 pm (see calendar listing). This is the time of year we reach out as a community and partner with faith-based groups for an afternoon of food, conversation and entertainment.

December Event Highlights

December will be filled with a month of community events:

- The month starts with the 17th Annual Hayes Valley Merchants Block Party December 7th from 6–9 pm.
- The 3rd Annual Giving Voice to the Season Community Sing Along at Patricia's Green in Hayes Valley (Hayes and Octavia) from 6pm till 8 pm. Come share food, drink and song with neighbors, friends and family.
- All merchants on Hayes Street between Laguna and Franklin and side streets of Laguna, Octavia and Gough between Fell and Grove invite the community to come shop, enjoy food, drink, and music.

Some participants at Patricia's Green Halloween Celebration. Please see www.hayesvalleysf.org for a photo gallery of other Halloween fun.

- For the sixth year there will be a SFFD toy drop off for children in need located at Hayes & Octavia and the community is encouraged to bring an unwrapped gift to drop in the collection bin.
- Fifth Annual Wreath and Card Making event by partner Hayes Valley Neighborhood Parks Group. The event will be located at the Hayes Valley South Community Room, 403 Rose St on December 8th from 1–3 pm. Come join community members as we come together for an afternoon of wreath and card making to distribute to community members. Food, drink and supplies will be provided.
- Sixth annual food giveaway on December 20th and 21st to community members recommended by their peers for building a safe and caring community. Last year we delivered over 225 food boxes to families making a positive change in their community.
- Sixth annual Community Luncheon (location to be determined) on December 22 from 11 am–3 pm. Come join us as we bring our community together for a celebratory lunch, hear speakers and showcase talent in the 'hood. A toy give-away will follow at the Hayes Valley Playground located at Hayes & Buchanan.

President's Column

By Paul Olsen

Today was a typical Saturday for me. Up early and walking Casper through Patricia's Green and along Hayes before there was much activity on the street. Cleaned up debris on the sidewalk before it could blow down Hayes Street while he tugged on the leash, eager to be home. Fed the dog and then headed out to breakfast, followed by a quick yard sale on the way to a business appointment. Home from there in time for another walk with Casper, and then I was off on my own for a while.

I needed to purchase a birthday gift for a friend, and had some other errands to run, so I walked down toward Hayes St. I hadn't made it 2 blocks when I ran into an HVNA Board member and her friend coming out of Momi Toby's, and we talked briefly about our upcoming meeting. Then I continued on, with my first stop Hayes Valley Market for the Art Show, where there were some truly wonderful pieces. Then I stopped at Into Video to check out a DVD for the weekend. I maneuvered through the crowds at the corners having Saturday brunch, and noted how welcoming Breezy's seemed, where I will be dining out for life with friends this week. Continuing on, I marveled at the transformation of Arlequin, lined up ideas for purchases at F Dorian, and wandered through Plantation looking at the glass octopi among other treasures. Across the street at Nancy Boy, Bill helped me finalize the gift, and I felt invigorated just breathing in the wonderful scent of the place. I browsed some at Bibliohead, resolving to return with my credit slip from books I have traded in previously.

I crossed the street, running into a neighbor who had been out of town during the last HVNA meeting and was interested in the outcome. We chatted, and she gave me good feedback on her position as well as appreciation for the education and information the organization has been providing. By that time umbrellas were starting to come out, and we went our separate ways. The window display at Worldware drew me in, and I marveled at large and small items alike, appreciating the personalized service. My last stop along the way was at Babies, where, as always, I got not only what I came in for, but found something else that Casper just had to have.

I came home to the familiar sight of Casper standing on the chair in the window, surveying his domain while pretending to watch for me. I also came home with the feeling that I had truly been out in a neighborhood where not only could I run all my errands, but where I had plenty of choices where to eat, shop, admire and accomplish things. Best of all, I had spent my time in a neighborhood where people are active and engaged, and where we do more than just nod and mumble "hello" when we see each other. We realize each of us impacts the other, and we are respectful of that impact.

There is, as always, much going on in the neighborhood, and much that each of us should be involved in. I chose to make my message personal not because it is important that you know what I did over a few hours on a Saturday, but because everything each of us does is a personal choice that impacts others. Please make the choice to be aware, to advocate your position on the issues and to listen to others as well, and to utilize all this neighborhood has to offer.

Have Happy Holidays, here in the 'hood!

First Offsite Show for America's Largest Artists' Colony

Hunters Point Shipyard Artists Launch Holiday Show in Hayes Valley

On November 23, 2007, the Hunters Point Shipyard artists' colony will kick off its first annual holiday show at 580 Hayes Street. For the first time in its 30-year history, the Point (as the organization is known) is putting together an offsite show, bringing members of the country's largest artists' colony into the heart of the City.

WHAT: "Off the Point" First Annual Holiday Show

WHO: 35 members of the Hunters Point artists' colony, including Lawrence Ferlinghetti, JoeSam, and glassblowers from neighboring Bayview arts group Public Glass

WHERE: Hayes Valley Market, 580 Hayes Street

WHEN: November 23–December 29, 2007

OPENING RECEPTION: Dec. 7, 6–11 pm

GALLERY HOURS: Wednesday–Sunday, 12 pm–7 pm

In September 2007, the studio space at Hunters Point Shipyard was officially written into Lennar Corp.'s redevelopment plans for the area. In celebration of that stunning success, the goal of "Off the Point" is to introduce more San Franciscans to the Point's unique community of painters, sculptors, printmakers, photographers, jewelry designers and more. It will also serve to raise awareness of the colony's history and status as the City works with Lennar Corp. to redevelop the Hunters Point Shipyard. The show will serve as a fundraiser for STAR (Shipyard Trust for the Arts), which plays a major role in the future of the arts in Hunters Point.

"This is a real success story," says artist and show organizer Zannah Noe. "The artists are at the Shipyard to stay. STAR's hard work has paid off. Our first annual holiday show will celebrate that achievement, and a way to build community ties by making our artists more widely known."

Past, Present and Future of the Point

Prior to decommissioning in 1974, Hunters Point Shipyard was a Navy repair station. In 1976, the Point's founder, Jacques Terzian, saw the possibility of transforming several of the neglected buildings into "starter studios" for artists. With co-developers Paula Terzian and David Terzian (daughter and son), the Point was soon home to 300 artists.

Today, Hunters Point Shipyard is a vital part of the City's fine arts community, thanks to the hard work of groups such as the Shipyard Artists Alliance (SYAA) and STAR. Its semiannual Open Studios draw thousands of visitors to Hunters Point every year, and the Point expects to expand its presence with an art center as the Shipyard development progresses. Now that the Point has an assured future at the Shipyard, its artists can focus on building their colony's community as well as working with the surrounding community.

members, city departments, and non-profits. Our mission is to provide community events, throughout the year, that bring neighbors together to foster a more safe and caring community. All through 2007 we produced or participated in events ranging from:

- 4th Annual Black History event in February
- Lily Street Sidewalk Sale benefit for John Muir PTA in April
- John Muir Teacher Appreciation Day in May
- 5th Grade Promotion Ceremony at John Muir and participated in the Western Addition Peace Wall dedication in June

- 6th Annual Western Addition National Night Out and 2nd Annual Back to School Day at John Muir (both events were attended by Mayor Newsom) in August.
- 17th Annual Linden Sidewalk Sale in September
- Coordinated a Wells Fargo Volunteer Day at John Muir in October.

Donations, which are tax deductible, are always appreciated and go toward the programs listed above. To make a donation, contact Richard Johnson at safety@hayesvalleysf.org.

Ballot Propositions

While some outcomes of the recent election were unsurprising, the margin of victory, and defeat, of Proposition A and Proposition H were unexpected. Polling information shortly before the election showed A slightly ahead and H slightly behind, each statistically even. Results through the end of the week show A with a substantial majority of 55% in favor and H losing resoundingly with 66% opposed.

HVNA took an early position on both propositions, based on our support of transit as well as support of the local planning process. Many members of the organization were active, and HVNA's presence in the Prop A/ Prop H campaign did not go unnoticed. Several people in the campaign were amazed that we brought so many people and so much energy throughout the effort to educate and get out the vote. On the last day, Chris Pederson, Karen Mauney-Brodek, Jim Warshell, Jason Henderson, Robin Levitt and Adam Millard-Ball were amongst those who participated in efforts in support of HVNA's position. All are to be commended for their efforts.

Membership Passes Resolution on UC Extension

At the October meeting, members present overwhelming passed a resolution listing three objectives that are among those that must be met in order for the organization to support a development proposal of the UC Extension site. Over 60 people attended the meeting. The resolution passed after each attendee wishing to speak had had the opportunity to do so, with many speaking of their personal feelings regarding development on the site, which is currently zoned public, as it has been for 150 years.

A copy of the resolution is available at the UC Extension page on the HVNA website. Simply stated, the 3 objectives listed call for a larger amount of open space, appropriate parking controls, and adequate affordable and workforce housing. Hayes Valley has long been a model for inclusion, choice and diversity. If something is to be built on this important site, it is important for it to be truly integrated into the neighborhood and the resolution is an expression of items necessary for that integration to happen.

Unsung No Mo'

When you see her, and she is involved in so many activities that you WILL see her, please congratulate Sheryl Davis. She is the recipient of the Unsung Hero of the African American Community Award from the SF Public Library. Sheryl will receive her award on Sunday, November 18th from 1-3 pm at the Main Library's Koret Auditorium.

Sheryl is the leader of Mo' Magic, very involved in Community Partners United, and an active voice for all of us in the neighborhood. Her energy is inspirational, and her willingness to work behind the scenes on behalf of the children and others in the community continues to make a huge difference. Please plan on attending the ceremony to show your support for all of Sheryl's hard work and dedication.

November Meeting – Focus on Building

Traditionally, this last meeting of the year has been a pot-luck, affording members the opportunity to join together and enjoy each other's company in an informal setting as we build community, one interaction at a time. Please come with your special dish to share. If the timing doesn't allow that, come anyway and share in the bounty from your neighbors – there are always some great desserts!

The meeting will also focus on two other building blocks in the community, with presentations from The Hayes, nearing completion at Gough and Page Streets, and from Octavia Court, housing for the developmentally disabled at the corner of Oak and Octavia on Parcel Q. Octavia Court is a Redevelopment project, and we're getting a chance to weigh in on the changes to the project before they appear before the Redevelopment Commission in early December.

We look forward to seeing you there!

John Muir Elementary School Update

Adopt a classroom! Looking for that perfect holiday gift that will keep on giving? Adopt a classroom at your local elementary school, John Muir Elementary! Here's all you do:

Your $250 to the John Muir Elementary PTA, a 501c3 non-profit organization, is tax deductible. Your adoption will place you on our HONOR ROLL of community supporters at our school. Your donation will supplement field trips that support the classroom curriculum. Many of our students have never been outside their neighborhood, and our field trips open windows to their minds!! What we adults take for granted is not the same for all of our families and their children.

There are many exciting new activities going on at John Muir!

- NOVEMBER 27, 5-8 PM: Enrollment Fair to sign up your children for the 2008/9 school year. The San Francisco Unified School District Enrollment office will there to answer your questions regarding any school in the City.

- DECEMBER 7, 4-7 PM: Parents are cooking home-made food for sale! Stop by the school cafeteria to enjoy dinner and takeout! Proceeds will fund future activities for our school, such as 5th grade graduation.
- DECEMBER 13, 7 PM: Next membership meeting, held at the school library. Join us! Being a parent is NOT required! Interest in investing in our children's future is a requirement.

Help Paint the Center!

Located at the corner of Octavia and Market, anchoring that entrance to Hayes Valley, is the LGBT Center, an HVNA member. We are very excited that the historic Fallon Building portion of the Center is scheduled to be transformed. And you can help!

The Queen Anne Victorian side of the Center, also known as the Fallon Building, is being painted next spring. This building has been painted the familiar monochrome blue since the Center opened in 2002. Gifts from Partners in Preservation and the Bothin Foundation, as well as ongoing fundraising efforts, are making it possible to attend to repairs as well as bring some glamour and refinement to the building's appearance.

A committee was formed earlier this year, made up of community members, Center leadership, and staff. The committee worked closely with a color specialist in San Francisco, to create two distinct color palettes for the building.

Palette "A" is comprised of grays, lavenders, and purples, with sliver leafing for finer details. Palette "Z" showcases nature-based tones of tan, maroon, and green, with gold leafing.

You can help by letting the Center know which colors you like better! To participate, go to <http://www.sfcenter.org/event/paintourbuilding.html> or visit the Center in person and vote in the lobby. This survey will be open until mid-December. Stay tuned, the Center will make the final color choice public in early January 2008!
